

INTRODUCING KATIE

The Greater Cincinnati Chapter of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge received a grant from the Scripps Howard Foundation to hire a communications intern for the spring semester. We have hired Katie Mead, a junior at Miami University. Katie is majoring in Strategic Communications and English with a minor in Marketing. She is an excellent student who is also involved in extra-curriculars like the UNICEF organization at Miami in which she is the public relations and marketing chair. She is also a lifeguard and part of the Miami University Sailing Club.

Katie's responsibility is to work with the Board to move toward our overarching objectives to attract new members and to reinforce our chapter's relationship with the local high schools. Katie's specific tasks will be to promote our organization on social media platforms, to create digital presentations, to write press releases, etc all in the effort to promote FFVF's mission and purpose with specific audiences.

We look forward to working with Katie as our Scripps Howard Communications Intern through May of this year. Welcome, Katie!

THANK YOU, JUDGE DINKELACKER

Upon his recent retirement from the bench, the Greater Cincinnati Chapter of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge would like to take the opportunity to recognize Judge Patrick Dinkelacker for his service to the Cincinnati community. Judge Dinkelacker served 29 years as a judge in the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas, serving with distinction and commitment. He fulfilled his role as judge with personal integrity.

This outstanding patriot and member of our Chapter provided not only moral and spiritual leadership but participated in the Chapter's Young Patriot Conferences numerous times over the years. Always with a smile and enthusiasm, he related how the judicial system works (sometimes humorously) and how important it is to serve the public good in a successful republic such as ours.

Thank you, Judge Dinkelacker, for your civic involvement and service as a model of an engaged citizen.

ESSAY CONTEST

The Cincinnati Chapter is sponsoring an essay contest. It is open to any high school student in the Cincinnati area. First prize will be $300; second prize $150.

The essay topic is set within the context of the Foundation's Bill of Responsibilities in which the fifth responsibility of an active and engaged citizen is to respect public and private property.

The essay must address the following topic:
What happens when the people in a community no longer respect public property?

The essay must be within 500- 1000 words, typed, double-spaced and corrected. It must include the student's name, address, grade level, and a teacher's name. It is due April 1, 2021 to Theresa Bradley at:

118 Tremont Avenue
Fort Thomas, KY 41075
